STEFANI WEEKLY

February 5, 2021

Remember to check our website for important dates and my blog!

Reading:

In reading we read folktales. We discussed how folktales often have animals that talk and act like people and may try to explain why things are a certain way.

In writing we practiced informational writing. Please make sure your child is using conjunctions in their sentences to make them more detailed and complex. At this point in the year, all students should be writing a full 5 sentence paragraph.

Math:

We wrapped up Unit 4 with our test on Thursday and we began Unit 5. A new homework workbook was sent home. Keep it in a safe place as this has the remaining math homework for the rest of the year!

Teacher's Corner:

On Monday we are celebrating the 101st day of school! First grade tradition is to celebrate with 101 Dalmatian themed activities. We ask students to wear black and white that day to represent 101 Dalmatians. We will be doing some fun activities at school!

On Friday we will be celebrating Valentine's Day! While we are not bringing in and passing out valentines, we will still celebrate in class with some fun activities. Please have your child wear pink, red, or purple! We have a fun day planned ahead 😊

Below are the 12 words your child needs to master for the weekly spelling test on Friday! Be sure to use the Word Work choice board menu to have your child practice the words at home, in addition to us practicing them every day at school.
